

SAFE DISPOSAL OF PERSONAL PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT

With the Covid-19 pandemic sweeping the globe, there is a need for safe waste disposal for used Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) such as masks, gloves or clothing used as part of your social distancing protocols.

EnviroServ, a proudly South African company with more than 40 years' experience in handling safe and compliant waste disposal, can safely and compliantly handle this waste stream.

With face masks and use of other PPE required in the workplace, companies may wish to ensure safe management of this material from time to time from a prudent risk perspective to guarantee that there is no possibility of spreading infection. This "social distancing waste" from non-infected persons is suitable for disposal at one of our Class A waste management facilities, where we have the right protocols in place to dispose of it safely.

ATTRIBUTES

- Compliant disposal of used social distancing PPE ensures supervised disposal of this waste, with a certificate of safe disposal
- The waste does not end up in the general waste stream or municipal landfill sites where people could be exposed to contamination.

BENEFITS

- EnviroServ can assist employers looking to safely dispose of PPE used in the workplace, by arranging the provision of suitably labelled bins and the collection and disposal when required.
- PPE used for social distancing measures is bagged, either in drums or wheelie bins marked for this purpose and collected by EnviroServ.
- Many customers may have already established protocols for these types of waste and we will align with these requirements where required.
